HIGHLIGHTS OF TRAINER'S PROFILE

Julia is an Executive Coach specializing in leadership coaching. She was a successful Marketing professional before she transitioned to become a professional Coach. While she was still in Campbell Soup Southeast Asia as the Head of Marketing, she began to lead her team differently through Coaching. The results were transformational. Leading by Coaching helps others become aware, think creatively, become engaged and be empowered. There on, they take on ownership and responsibilities and drive results beyond their own expectations. It unleashes their potential and helps them to learn and grow and in turn help them to behave and become future leaders. Julia is passionate to create positive change by spreading the awareness of coaching amongst workplace managers. This enables them to become coaching leaders who enjoy a more meaningful leadership role. While developing their direct reports as future leaders, they can then focus their attention on strategies that bring their companies to new heights.
